Africa Train 2026 Tour

Travel Reservation Terms & Conditions

Deposit-Cancellation Fees

The Africa Train requires that we pay a non-refundable deposit for every passenger that we take a deposit from. We will be giving them approximately $1,500 per person within 30 days of your initial deposit. We know you have only paid us a $500 deposit. This is not a problem, we will advance the rest. Knowing you are serious and really plan to go, this is not a great risk on our part. History shows very few of our passengers ever cancel, plus the train company is willing to allow us to do name changes one year out for a fee. Until we are under one year from the tour start date, we know we can replace the few that will have issues and need to cancel.

Here is our cancellation policy for our special “Once in a Lifetime” Africa Train Tour:

- Cancelling between your sign-up date and 1 year prior to departure date: the initial deposit of $500 is non-refundable, but it can be transferred to another trip offered by Fun For Less Tours within 2 years of cancelling. All other monies will be returned.
- Cancelling from 1 year to 6 months prior to departure date: 50% of your total invoice is non-refundable and non-transferable.
- Cancelling inside of 6 months prior to departure date: 100% of your total invoice is non-refundable and non-transferable.
- The above cancellation policy may change and become a higher non-refundable or non-transferable amount if Fun For Less Tours has purchased non-refundable airline tickets or other non-refundable items for the passengers.
 - CHANGE POLICY: Change requests will be considered on a case-by-case basis. Adding passengers to your reservation is not necessarily considered a “change”. Changes made to names of passengers already booked, and changes to room or cabin reservations will be assessed a fee. Any changes to airlines, rail lines, etc. will be assessed the change fees charged by the airlines, rail lines etc. Changes are subject to approval by the airlines and rail lines, etc. Change requests must be made over the phone with one of our agents and will be done only after rail line or airline approval.

Important Note: Airlines may change, cancel or discontinue flights at their discretion. Fun For Less Tours is not responsible for any costs associated with such changes.

IMPORTANT TRIP PROTECTION INFORMATION:

We strongly recommend the purchase of a Trip protection policy through TravelEx, which can cover trip delays, cancellations or interruptions due to unforeseen reasons. It is important for you to understand that starting more than 9 months in advance, your money has been paid to our vendors and we no longer have it for reimbursement. Please refer to our cancellation policy. The only way to protect your trip is through Trip protection.

Important Travel Protection Information

We recognize that a vacation is an investment. So take a moment and ask yourself a few questions...

- If I have an accident or sickness that causes my inability to go on my tour or cruise, can I afford to lose my money?
- Most health insurance does not cover you outside of the US... If an emergency happens am I prepared to pay for medical evacuation, hospitalization, and other expenses?
- If an emergency happens to someone at home and you have to return early from your trip, are you prepared to pay for the short notice airfare prices?

We encourage the purchase of our Travel Protection policy through Travelex, which can cover trip delays, cancellations or interruptions due to unforeseen reasons. It is important for you to understand that between 90 - 120 days (or more) before your trip, your money has been paid to our vendors and we no longer have it for reimbursement. The following information is provided by the CDC Centers for Disease Control and Prevention wwwn.cdc.gov/travel/contentVaccinations.aspx

The CDC divides vaccines for travel into three categories: Routine, Recommended, and Required. While your doctor will tell you which ones you should have, it's best to be aware of them ahead of time.

Checklist:

- Have you scheduled a visit with your doctor or travel medicine provider? Ideally, you should do this 2 or more weeks before your trip. Most vaccines take time to become effective in your body and some must be given over several days or weeks.
- Have you looked on the (CDC) website about health information for your destination? If you haven't looked up the CDC website for health information, you should do so ASAP.
 - wwwn.cdc.gov/travel/contentVaccinations.aspx
- Be sure that you and your family are up to date on your routine vaccinations. These vaccines are necessary for protection from diseases that are still common in many parts of the world even though they rarely occur in the United States. If you are not sure which vaccinations are routine, you can go to the website listed above or ask your doctor.
- Are you aware of which types of vaccinations are recommended for you or those traveling with you? If vaccinations are recommended they are to protect travelers from illnesses present in other parts of the world and to prevent the importation of infectious diseases across international borders. Which vaccinations you need depends on a number of factors including your destination, whether you will be spending time in rural areas, the season of the year you are traveling, your age, health status, and previous immunizations.
- Are you aware of any vaccines required by International Health Regulations? These vaccines are required before entering the countries being visited.
- Are you traveling with infants or children? While many travel health issues for adults also apply to infants and children, they also have special needs that are to be considered when they travel.
